John Mah

Director of Information Services

Vancouver Fraser Port Authority

John Mah is the Director of Information Services at the Vancouver Fraser Port Authority and has overall responsibility for its technical environment, including the Cyber Security Program.

John is an IT professional with over 24 years of leadership experience. He has worked in many different industries ranging from Non-Profit to High Tech, in organizations with annual revenues from $2M up to $1B.

Prior to working for Vancouver Fraser Port Authority, John was the head of IT for Dubai Ports Canada. He was a member of the management team that successfully led its Centerm container terminal through two phases of expansion and automation. As such, he is very familiar with the complexities and cyber security challenges of a Port Authority and a complex marine terminal.
